

THERE IS THERE ARE

Teacher: Carmen Reigosa

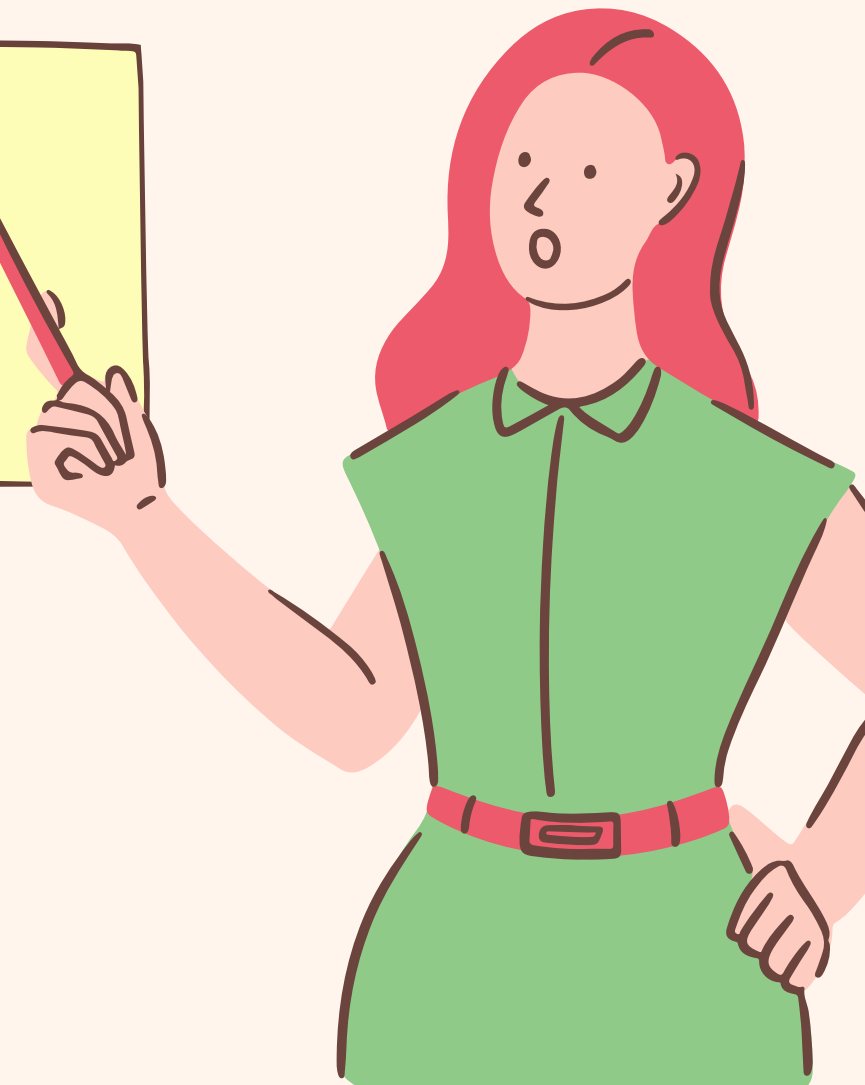

COUNTABLE NOUNS

THERE IS

SINGULAR

THERE ARE

PLURAL

COUNTABLE NOUNS

SINGULAR

PLURAL

AFFIRMATIVE

There's a desk
There is a desk

There are five desks
There are some desks

NEGATIVE

There isn't a book

There aren't two books
There aren't any books

INTERROGATIVE

Is there a book?
Yes, there is
No, there isn't

Are there any pens?
Yes, there are
No, there aren't

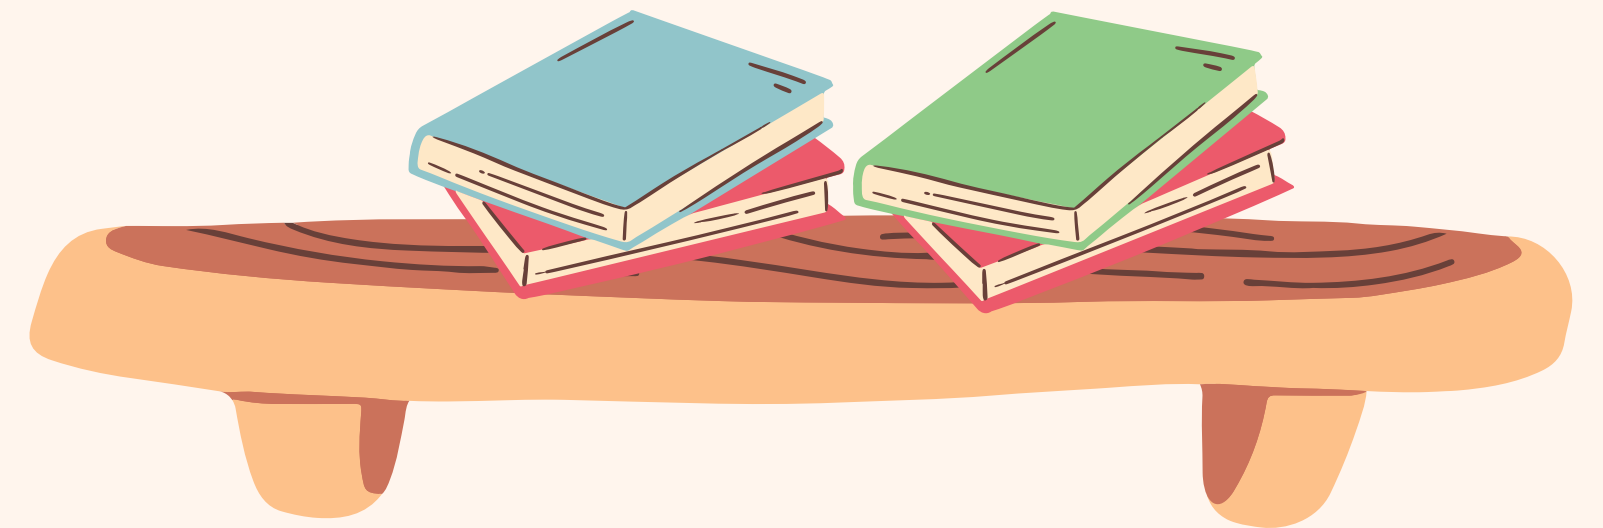

THERE IS

- There is is used when we are talking about the existence of a singular item or person.
- Its contraction is: there's
- a/an mean "one" item. It should have the -n if the next word starts with a vowel (an apple, an exercise, an exam)
- Example: "There 's a computer on the table."

THERE ARE

- There are is used when we are talking about the existence of multiple items or people.
- You cannot contract there are.
- You can use the number of objects or some to talk about more than one without the number.
- Example: "There are four/some books on the shelf."

UNCOUNTABLE NOUNS

THERE IS

NOUN

UNCOUNTABLE NOUNS

AFFIRMATIVE

There's some information

NEGATIVE

There isn't any information

INTERROGATIVE

Is there any information?
Yes, there is
No, there isn't