

Spelling Patterns for Vowel Sounds

spelling	example	observations
/i:/
ea	sea, tea, peace, teach, lead, read, peak, deal, reveal, scream, team, clean, leap, please, release, beat, beneath, breathe, creature, leave.	One-off spellings: people, key, quay, geyser
ee	see, free, agree, knee, feel, feed, proceed, succeed, keen, seek, seem, screen, deep, greet, sleeve.
e	me, be, he, she, we; Pete, eve, these, theme, scene, complete, precede.
ei	seize, receive, receipt, deceive, conceive, perceive, ceiling, Leigh.
ie	piece, field, achieve, believe, relief, brief, chief, fiend, siege, shriek, priest.
i	police, gasoline, machine, magazine, marine, routine, vaccine, prestige, regime, elite, naive, ski, fatigue, intrigue, antique, technique, unique.
oe	Oedipus, foetus, phoenix
ae	aegis, Caesar, antennae
is	debris, precis
/ɪ/
i	it, sit, miss, tip, pick, pin, bring, list, fill, film, trim, dinner, finger, river, consist.	One-off spellings: women
e	English, pretty, ecology, enough, eleven, electric.
y	symbol, lyrics, hymn, pyramid, sympathy, synchronize, crystal, system, typical, tyranny, mystery, myth, rhythm, antonym, synonym, lady, family, Daddy, duty, whisky, carry, hurry, funny,
u	busy, business, lettuce
ui	build, circuit
a	village, orange
ie	sieve, mischief, Annie, Katie, auntie.
ei, ey	forfeit, surfeit, honey, hockey, journey, money, monkey, Sydney, Casey.
/e/
e	wet, help, bet, set, well, guest, seldom, empty, every, berry, regular, accept, connect, inspector, impress, address, project, enter, entrance, entire.	One-off spellings: friend, says, Reynolds
ea	Learn them by heart: bread, dead, head, header, lead, read, spread, thread, dread, tread, instead; already, ready, steady, meadow; sweat, sweater, threat, threaten; breath, death, health, stealth, wealth; weather, leather, feather; measure, pleasure, treasure, treasury, pleasant, peasant, pheasant; dealt, meant, cleanse, jealous, realm; heaven, heavy, endeavor, deaf; breakfast, breast, treachery, weapon.
a	any, many, ate, Thames
ei	leisure, Leicester, heifer
eo	leopard, jeopardise, Leonard
u	bury, burial
ai	said, again
/æ/
a	black, mat, ankle, hat, man, sat, exam, have, apple, stand, rat, cat, flat, back.	This vowel is spelt  only in a few words of French origin.
ai	plaid, plait
i	meringue, lingerie, timbre
The letter  pronounced /eɪ/ changes to /æ/ in some derivatives: nature /eɪ/ – natural /æ/; nation /eɪ/ – national /æ/; sane /eɪ/ – sanity /æ/; vain – vanity.
/ɑ:/
a	father, last, path,
ar	arm, art, car, card, yard, part, charge, large, margin, argue, guard, regard, garden, pardon, market.

al	half, calf, calm, palm, balm, alms, psalm. (The <l> in these words is silent.)	One-off spellings: bazaar, Afrikaans
au	laugh, aunt, draught
er	clerk, derby, sergeant
ear	heart, hearth
oi	memoir, repertoire, reservoir, patois	This vowel is spelt <oi> only in French loanwords (and in very few of those) /ɪ/
u	Cup, bus, blush, up, rush, hungry, nut, cut, unfair, hut, blunt, hum, nun, sun	One-off spellings: does
o	Son, month, none, ton, one, love, dove, come, mother, brother, done, some, something, oven, glove ou	enough, young, couple, rough
oo	blood, flood, bloody
wo	twopence, twopenny
/ɒ/
(w)a	want, watch, wash, what, swamp, swallow, swan, wander, quality, qualify, quantity, quarrel, quarantine.	One-off spellings: knowledge, bureaucracy, yacht
o	got, hot, not, stop, rob, odd, off, clock, coffee, gone, bomb, bond, soft, often, body, hobby, dollar, doctor, document, occupy, college, model, monitor, option, promise, prompt, follow, borrow, sorrow, tomorrow, sorry, orange.
ou	cough, trough
au	because, cauliflower /ɔ:/
all, al	all, ball, call, fall, hall, wall, appall, alter, always, already, walk, talk, chalk, false, salt, halt.	One-off spellings: drawer (a sliding container), drawer (a person who draws), awe, Sean
au	cause, pause, applause, sauce, audio, audience, fraud, August, auto, author, Paul, fault, haunt, launch, laundry aw	law, draw, drawer, saw, thaw, crawl, shawl, hawk, dawn, lawn, awful, awkward.
our, oar, oor	course, court, four, mourn, pour, source, your; board, hoarse, hoard, roar, soar, broad; door, floor.
or, ore	cord, Ford, form, born, corn, torn, short, sport, torch, porch, orange, order, orient, normal, mortal, storm, story, glory, forum, forty, morning; bore, more, before, shore, sore, store, tore, explore, ignore.
ought	bought, brought, fought, ought, sought, thought
ure	sure
augh	caught, taught, daughter, slaughter, haughty, naughty.
war, wa	war, warm, ward, warden, warn, warning, award, reward; water.
quar	quart, quarter, headquarters, quartz.
/ʊ/
u	put, push, pull, bush, bull, bullet, full, pudding, sugar, cushion, butcher.
o	wolf, woman, bosom
oo	book, cook, look, hook, shook, took, good, stood, wood, hood, childhood, foot, wool, broom, rookie.
ou	could, should, would.
or	Worcester, worsted /u:/
u	rude, crude, rule, rumour, brutal, prune; Lucy, Luke, lumen, flute; June, junior, Julia, judo; chute, parachute, crucial, flu.	One-off spellings: two
oo	food, mood, room, broom, moon, cartoon, cool, pool, school, scoop, tooth, boots, poodle, ooze, choose, soothe, shoot, too, zoo, bamboo, taboo, kangaroo, shampoo, tattoo.	The words room, broom and groom have two alternative pronunciations, one with /u:/ and one with /ʊ/.
ou	group, soup, loupe, cougar, coupon, mousse, route, routine, wound, souvenir, through, rouge.
o	do, who, whom, whose, lose, move, prove, improve, tomb, womb.
ew	jewel, Jew, flew, blew, chew, crew, screw.
oe	shoe, canoe, manoeuvre

ue	true, blue, clue, glue.
ui	juice, fruit, bruise, cruise, recruit, sluice.
eu	Rheumatism, lieu, Reuben
/ɜ:/
ear	learn, heard, search, early, earn, earth, pearl, yearn, rehearse.	One-off spellings: were, colonel
er, err	herb, serve, verb, verse, certain, person, concern, emergency, percent, prefer, herd, err.	This vowel is spelt <eur> and <eu> in French loanwords and proper names: entrepreneur, voyeur, connoisseur, cordon bleu, Richelieu lr, irr	sir, fir, girl, bird, stir, shirt, skirt, third, whirl, circle, circus, dirty, thirsty, whirr.
our	courtesy, journey, journal, journalist, scourge.
or	word, work, worm, world, worry, worse, worth; attorney
ur, urr	urge, fur, burn, turn, curse, purse, purr, hurry, current, occur, curtain, furnish, turkey, purpose, pursue, disturb, urn, blur, nurse.
yr, yrr	myrtle, myrrh
eur	raconteur, masseur
eu	milieu
/ə/
a	banana, policeman	This vowel, usually called 'schwa', only occurs in unstressed syllables and can be represented by any vowel letter, digraph or combination of vowel plus <r> e	seven, postmen
i	edible, possible
o	second, correct
u	until, August
y	sibyl, analysis
ai	chieftain
ia	parliament
io	question
oi	tortoise, porpoise
ie	ancient
ea	vengeance
ar	custard, bursar
er	father, other
or	mirror, forget
ur	surpass, murmur
re	centre, litre
ou	vociferous, famous
our	parlour, rancour
ure	nature, vulture

Vowel Sounds 2: Diphthongs

/aɪ/
i	I, kite, rabbi	One-off spellings: eye, aye, guise, maestro.
y	cry, by
ie	die, lie
ye	dye, bye
ei	either, neither, Geiger
ai	aisle
igh	high, sight
eigh	height, sleight
uy	buy, guy
Letter  is usually pronounced /aɪ/ in the following cases: (1) when followed by a single consonant + <e>, as in time, line and kite. (2) when followed by another vowel letter, as in biology, dioxide, diurnal. When  is followed by  or <e>, the result is /aɪ/ + /ə/. Examples are diagnose, science and diet. (3) when followed by the letters <nd>, as in find, grind and behind. But note the homographs wind /wɪnd/ and wind /waɪnd/. (4) when it occurs in Latin plurals. Some examples are nuclei, foci, termini, alumni, gladioli, radii, cacti. But note the singular alibi and the combining form quasi- /'kweɪzəɪ/ or /'kwa:zɪ/.
/eɪ/
a	cable, chaos, plane	One-off spellings: Gaelic, gauge, gaol
ai	saint, explain, jail
ay	pay, day
ey	they
ea	break, steak, great, Reagan, Yeats
eigh	eight, weight, sleigh
Letter  is typically pronounced /eɪ/ when followed by a single consonant + <e>, as in plane , mate , fame .
French loanwords
e/é	debut, cafe, regime
e/ê	fete, crepe, suede
ee/ée	toupee, soiree, matinee
et	ballet, chalet, bouquet
er	dossier, foyer, atelier
There are a number of words ending in -ate whose grammatical function depends on whether the suffix is pronounced with /eɪ/ or /ə, ɪ/. The diphthong is typically used in the pronunciation of verb forms, while the weak vowel is used in adjectives and nouns; advocate, alternate, approximate, duplicate, elaborate, estimate, graduate, intimate, moderate, separate.
/ɔɪ/
oi	boil, point, tabloid	One-off spellings: buoy
oy	oyster, boy, Lloyd	This diphthong is spelt <eu> in a few German names and borrowings: Freud, Kreutzer, Plattdeutsch.
/aʊ/
ou	sound, house, loud	One-off spellings: MacLeod
ow	cow, down, renown
ough	plough, bough, drought
au	Audi, Saudi Arabia
/əʊ/
o	go, roll, photo, home	One-off spellings: sew, brooch, pharaoh
ow	own, show
ou	although, shoulder
oe	toe, doe, woe
oa	boat, road, load
Letter <o> is typically pronounced /əʊ/ when followed by a single consonant + e, as in home , phone , dole . This diphthong also occurs in a number of French loanwords, where it is represented by the spellings <au, eau> and less commonly, <ot>.
au	mauve, au pair, chauffeur
eau	beau, bureau, château
ot	argot, haricot, tarot

/ɪə/
ear	hear, dear year
eer	deer, peer, queer	The letters <e> and  are sometimes pronounced /ɪə/ when they are followed by <r> + a vowel letter or the letter <y>, as in Vera, Algeria, query, lira, Algeciras .
ere	here, sphere, mere
eir	weird, weir
ier	pier, fierce, chandelier
ir	fakir, emir, nadir
ea	idea, real, theatre
/eə/
air	hair, pair, hairy, dairy	One-off spellings: mayor, prayer, scarce, ne'er, Verdi
are	care, fare, scare
ear	pear, bear, wear
ere	there, where, père
eir	heir, their
(1) Letter  is sometimes pronounced /eə/ when it is followed by <r> + a vowel letter or the letter <y>, as in parent, canary, aquarium, vary, wary, Mary, Sarah. (2) The only items in which <ear> is pronounced /eə/ are pear, bear, wear, swear, tear (ad words derived from them). All other words are pronounced with /ɪə/. (3) In present day RP this diphthong is often realised as a long open <e> ([ɛ:]).
/ʊə/
oor	moor, boor, spoor
our	tour, dour, gourd
ure	sure, lure, cure	Currently, many speakers use /ɔ:/ rather than /ʊə/ in words like cure, tour, moor, sure, and even you're .
ur	euro, during, curious	This diphthong is often preceded by /j/ represented by <e> in such words as Europe, euro .

CONSONANTS

/p/
p	put, super, lip	One-off spellings: shepherd, hiccough/hiccup
pp	happy, apple, supper
Silent : This letter is silent when it occurs before <n, t and s> in several words of Greek origin: pneumonia, psychology, pterodactyl . This letter is also silent in these words: corps, coup, receipt, cupboard, raspberry .
/b/
b	boy, table, pub
bb	hobby, abbey, ebb
/b/Silent : it occurs after <m> and before <t>: climb, comb, crumb, numb, plumb, thumb, tomb, plumber, debt, doubt, subtle. But tumble, crumble, rumble, humble, stumble!!!
/t/
t	ten, petrol, cat
tt	letter, battle, butt
th	Thyme, Thames, Thomas, Theresa, Thailand, Thomson, Chatham, discotheque, Anthony, Esther.	Pronunciation hints: generally speaking, <th> is pronounced /θ/ or /ð/. The pronunciation of <th> as /t/ is found only in a very small number of words, most of which are indicated left. The names Anthony and Esther are also pronounced with /θ/.
-ed	washed, stopped, laughed
Silent <t>: it is silent in Christmas and soften , as well as in words ending in -stle and -sten: thistle, whistle, jostle, rustle, castle, forecastle, nestle, listen, glisten, hasten, christen, moisten, fasten, chasten . But often can be pronounced either with or without <t>. It is also silent in several words of French origin, especially those words ending in -et and -ot: ballet, beret, bidet, buffet, cabaret, gourmet, parquet, duvet, debut, nougat, rapport, argot, depot, haricot, tarot, penchant .
/d/
d	day, medal, glad
dd	ladder, middle, caddie
-ed	played, travelled, banned
Silent <d>: it is silent in handkerchief , and usually also in sandwich, handsome, and Wednesday .
/k/
k	key, baker, lake, park	One-off spelling: Akkadian.
c	cow, scale, picnic
ck	clock, hacker, ticking
cc	account, occasion, tobacco
qu	quay, quiche, clique, cheque
ch	Chemist, masochism, monarch
kh	gymkhana, khaki, Tutankhamen
Pronunciation hints: The digraph <qu> is pronounced /kw/ in words like quite, quirk, square, banquet and liquid . It is commonly pronounced /k/ in medial position, especially in words of French origin: bouquet, etiquette, piquancy, liquor . Note that conquer with /k/ but conquest with /kw/. <cqu> is pronounced /k/ in lacquer, racquet , but acquire, acquaint, acquit /kw/. The words Celt and Celtic are pronounced /kelt, 'keltk/, but in Scotland the usual pronunciation is /selt, 'seltk/. The bames of the Glasgow football team and the Boston basketball team are both pronounced with /s/.
Silent <k and c>: letter <k> is silent in the initial cluster kn-: know, knight, knife, knuckle . Likewise, <c> is silent in the cluster -sc-: muscle, sceptre, corpuscle . It is also silent in the words indict, indictment, victuals and Connecticut . Note the silent -ck- in blackguard and Cockburn .
/g/
g	girl, tiger, finger, flag
gu	guest, guess, guard, guarantee
gue	dialogue, catalogue
gg	trigger, foggy, aggression gh	ghoul, ghastly, ghost
Silent <g>: It's silent in the initial and final cluster <gn> and in the final cluster -gm: gnarled, gnome, gnostic, gnaw, align, feign, foreign, assign, benign, campaign, champagne, malign, reign, consign, resign, sign, design; diaphragm, paradigm, phlegm . But it is pronounced in the words paradigmatic, phlegmatic, signal, assignation, resignation . Note the derived word phlegmy , with no /g/, and physiognomy , both ways.
/f/
f	few, cafe, scarf

ff	suffer, off, stuff
ph	phone, nephew, triumph
gh	laugh, rough, tough, enough, laughter, tougher, roughly
Eye-opener: the pronunciation of nephew as /'nefju:/ has gained considerable ground over the more traditional /'nevju:/.
/v/
v	van, cover, give	One-off spelling: of .
vv	navvy, savvy, skivvy
ph	Stephen, nephew
/θ/
th	thin, think, through, cathedral, author, north, worth, path /ð/
th	the, this, that, these, those, than, though, thy, then, although, weather, worthy, with, smooth, northern, southern Pronunciation hints: 1) In initial position, <th> is pronounced /ð/ in determiners, pronouns, conjunctions and adverbs (e.g., this, than, then, there, theirs, thus). An exception is the word through /θru:/. Most other words beginning <th> are pronounced with /θ/. 2) In medial position, <th> is pronounced /ð/ when followed by -er or -ing (e.g., other, bother, brother, together, either, dither, gather, clothing, bathing, loathing). There are three exceptions, panther, ether and thing (and its compounds anything, nothing, plaything, etc.) 3) In final position, <th> is usually pronounced /θ/. Two exceptions are with and smooth (with /ð/). Note also booth and bequeath , which are pronounced either /ð/ or /θ/.
The /θ/ - /ð/ alternation: There are several cognates in which the contrast /θ/ - /ð/ serves to mark nouns and adjectives. Some examples are: north, south, worth (/θ/)/northern, southern, worthy (/ð/). But note frothy and pithy (/θ/). This alternation is signalled orthographically in noun and verb cognates ending in -th and -the respectively. Examples are: Nouns: bath, breath, sheath, sooth, teeth, wreath (/θ/). Verbs: bathe, breathe, sheathe, soothe, teethe, wreathe (/ð/). /s/
s	soup, this, expensive
ss	boss, missile, passive
c	ceiling, accent, peace
sc	scene, science, abscess
z	blitz, quartz, waltz
x (/ks/)	expect, exhibition, box
Pronunciation hints: 1) The final sequence -ce is pronounced /s/, never /z/: advice, once, rice, race, mace . 2) However, the final sequence -se may be pronounced /s/ or /z/: else /els/; cease /si:s/; rise /raiz/; raise /reiz/ .
/z/
s	cousin, desert, these
z	zoo, freeze, dozen
zz	puzzle, muzzy, jazz
ss	dessert, scissors, possess
x	xylophone, xerox, xenophobia
Also x (/gz/)	example, exactly, Alexander
Pronunciation hints: 1) The final sequence -ze is always pronounced /z/, never /s/: maze, daze, seize, organize . 2) The adjective and noun suffix -ese is always pronounced /-i:z/: Chinese, Portuguese, Siamese, Sudanese, Pekinese . 3) The noun suffix -ism is always pronounced /-izəm, -izm/: athleticism, capitalism, Marxism, racism, relativism . 4) The only words in which <ss> is pronounced /z/ are dessert, scissors, possess, dissolve and hussar .
The /s/ - /z/ alternation: There are a number of words which are pronounced with final /z/ when used as verbs and final /s/ when used as nouns or adjectives. This alternation is signalled orthographically in the pairs advise /əd'vaɪz/ – advice /əd'vaɪs/, devise /dɪ'vaɪz/ – device /dɪ'vaɪs/ , but there are other words in which the contrast is orthographically invisible: abuse, close, diffuse, excuse, house, use . Nevertheless, one must not be misled by the spelling, for there are quite a few words in which the /z/ – /s/ alternation does not operate. For instance, the words decrease, increase, promise and release are always pronounced with final /s/ regardless of their function. Similarly, fuse and surprise are pronounced with final /z/ whether they are used as nouns or verbs. To add further confusion, in British English the <s> spelling of the verbs license and practise serves to distinguish them from the nouns licence and practice , yet both verbs and nouns have the same pronunciation, i.e., 'laɪsɪns, 'præktɪs/.
/ʃ/
sh	ship, cushion, bash

s	extension, pension
ss	passion, pressure
t	mention, motion, function
c	special, ocean, musician
sc	conscience, fascist, luscious
ch	chic, champagne, chaperon, Chicago, machine, brochure, machete, Michigan, moustache, niche, gauche, crèche
sch	schedule, Schweppes, schnapps, schmuck, schmaltz /ɜ:/
s	vision, fusion, lesion
g	genre, regime, beige
j	bijou, déjà vu, je ne sais quoi
z	seizure, azure
Eye-opener: Despite its spelling, the word equation is normally pronounced /ɪ'kweɪʒn/. The variant /ɪ'kweɪʃn/ is not common in RP. /h/
h	house, hotel, Bahamas wh	who, whose, whole
Silent <h>: It is always silent in final position: cheetah, doh, hurrah, oh, pharaoh, shah, verandah. There are also a good many words in which non-final <h> is silent: heir, honest, honour, hour, annihilate, vehement, vehicle, diarrhoea, shepherd. To these may be added many proper names ending in -ham: Chatham, Graham, Nottingham, Durham. Notice that historian, historic, historical and historically are sometimes pronounced without /h/ when they are preceded by an. Thus, a historical re-enactment /ə hɪs'tɒrɪkl ri:x'næktmənt/ or an historical re-enactment /ən ɪs'tɒrɪkl ri:x'næktmənt/, but a crisis of historical proportions /ə 'kraɪsɪs əv hɪs'tɒrɪkl pre'pɔ:ʃnz/. The word hotel is most commonly pronounced /həʊ'tel/, but the old aitchless pronunciation /əʊ'tel/ can still be heard. /tʃ/
ch	chair, leech	One-off spellings: Czech /tʃek/, putsch /putʃ/.
tch	match, watch, pitch
t	picture, digestion
c	cello, concerto
Pronunciation hints: 1) Letter <t> is pronounced /tʃ/ in the final sequences -ture and -stion: picture, feature, creature, question, exhaustion, suggestion. 2) This letter is also usually pronounced /tʃ/ in righteous /raɪtʃəs/. Silent <ch>: the digraph <ch> is silent in these words: fuchsia /'fju:ʃə/, yacht /jɒt/. /dʒ/
j	jack, major, raj
g	gin, logic, danger, strange
dg	hedge, ridge, lodge
dj	adjust, adjective
gg	suggest, exaggerate, loggia, veggie
ch	sandwich, spinach, Greenwich, Norwich (UK)
/m/
m	more, ram
mm	accommodate, dilemma
mb	climb, dumb, lamb, plumber
mn	autumn, column, damn /n/
n	now, dance, pin
nn	annoy, penny, tennis
gn	gnaw, sign, reign
kn	knee, knob, acknowledge
pn	pneumatic, pneumonia
Silent <n>: this letter is silent at the end of a word when it follows the letter <m>: autumn, column, damn, condemn, hymn, solemn. But note that the <n> in these words corresponds to /n/ when it is followed by a suffix beginning with a vowel: autumnal, columnist, condemnation, damnation, hymnal, solemnity.

/ŋ/
ng	hanger, banging, sing, wrong
n	finger, anxious, uncle, bank
Pronunciation hints: 1) The spelling <ng> usually corresponds to the pronunciation /ŋ/ at a morpheme boundary, whether or not it is a word boundary: sing, hang, slang, long, Reading, singing, hanger, slangy, longed, Birmingham. But the morpheme-final -ng is pronounced /ŋg/ in the comparatives and superlatives of the adjectives long, strong and young, and in words derived from monophthong, diphthong and triphthong: longer, longest, stronger, strongest, younger, youngest, triphthongal, monophthongise, diphthongisation. Note that <ng> also represents /ŋ/ in the words amongst, gangster, youngster, length and strength. 2) The spelling <n> usually represents /ŋ/ in stressed syllables when followed by /k/ or /g/: anchor, distinguish.
/l/
l	long, child, oil
ll	cellar, village, dull
Silent <l>: It is silent before <d, f, k and m> in these words: could, should, would; half, calf; talk, walk, chalk, caulk, stalk, folk, yolk, Norfolk, Suffolk; almond, alms, balm, calm, palm, psalm, qualm, salmon, Malcolm, Holmes, Stockholm. Note also baulk /bɔːk/ or /bɔːlk/. Other words in which <l> is silent are: Lincoln, Renault, Versailles.
/r/
r	read, around, three
rr	arrive, currant, arrow
rh	rhino, rhubarb, rhythm
rrh	cirrhosis, diarrhoea, haemorrhage
wr	wrist, wrong, wry
/j/
y	year, yolk, beyond
i	million, onion, senior
e	few, new, euro, beauty
u (!)	cute, muscular, tube
u+r+vowel (!)	mural, cure, pure, mature Spelling and pronunciation hints: Yod is commonly spelled <y> in word-initial position and <y or i> when it occurs medially. Because of its gliding nature, however, it is much easier to predict when it should be used looking at the vowels and diphthongs that follow: a) In stressed syllables, /j/ occurs before /u:/ and /ʊə/ if they are spelled <u, ue, eu, ew, ure> and are not preceded by the letters <j, ch, or r>, or by a <consonant + l>: tube, duty, music, fuel, due, cue, Tuesday, feud, neutral, Eucharist, ewe, few, new; Urals, mural, euro, pure, mature. Examples without /j/: Jew, June, juice, chew, chute, rude, crew, prune, blue, plural, sluice. b) In unstressed syllables, /j/ occurs before /u:/, u, ʊə, uə, ə/: menu, argue, regular, uvular, pedicure, annual, manual, million, onion, senior. c) In unstressed syllables, the two-syllable sequence /tə/ is often compressed into a single syllable, so becoming /jə/. This gives rise to a number of alternative pronunciations: audience, idiot, immediate, India. d) Other alternative pronunciations result from the weakening of unstressed /ju, ju/ to /jə/: communist, manufacture, document. e) There are many words in which /j/ may or may not be dropped, especially but not exclusively in stressed syllables after /θ, s, z, l/: suit, sewage, lute, absolute, revolution, salute, enthusiasm.
Minority spelling: in some French loanwords the sequence /nj/ is represented by <gn>: cognac, poignant, vignette, lorgnette.
/w/
w	well, win, reward
wh	what, where, whine
u	quick, antiquity, squad, anguish, language
o (!)	one, once
oi (!)	choir
Silent <w>: it is silent in the following cases: a) Before <r> as in write, wrist, wrestle and wrong. b) In many proper names ending in -wich or -wick: Greenwich, Norwich, Chiswick, Warwick. c) In the words who, whom, whose, whole, where. Some speakers pronounce many words beginning with <wh> → /hw/ (what, which, why, whisky, wheat), but this pronunciation is now considered old-fashioned in RP. d) In the words answer and sword.
Eye-openers: 1) Note that the  is pronounced /w/ in the sequence <qu+vowel> and also sometimes in the unstressed sequence <gu+vowel>. Thus, /w/ occurs in anguish because the second syllable, containing -gu-, is unstressed. But letter  is silent in words like guard, guest and guide, since the sequence -gu- is stressed. Exceptions are numerous: iguana, McGuire, guerrilla, guarantee. 2) The two-syllable sequence /uə/ is often compressed into a single syllable, so becoming /wə/. This gives rise to a good number of pronunciation variants in words like usual, innocuous, obituary.		